

ARFTG Ph.D. Student Sponsorship Initiative

This initiative, established by ARFTG and funded through its corporate sponsors, is open to all Ph.D. students. This initiative will provide support for Ph.D. students to help defray the expenses of attending the 88th ARFTG Conference, December 6 - 9, 2016, at the Hilton Austin in Austin, Texas: <http://www.arftg.org>.

The sponsorship includes:

- Free ARFTG Symposium Package registration (includes conference, workshops, NVNA users' forum, awards banquet, and conference lunches and breakfasts)
- Hotel accommodation (up to 3 nights prepaid room fee and taxes at the conference hotel. No other hotels are covered with the sponsorship and the student is responsible for additional nights and any other services charged to the room).

To qualify for an award:

- All applicants must submit an application with a personal statement.
- Applications must be submitted through supervisors.
- Each supervisor is limited to two Ph.D. student applicants.
- Supervisors are expected to pay for transportation to/from conferences.
- Successful applicants are expected to be present at the entire ARFTG conference.
- Successful applicants must be the lead author and present at least one of the following at the ARFTG conference: an oral or interactive paper, or a workshop presentation.
- An applicant may not be an ARFTG Fellowship recipient.
- A student may only be sponsored once.

Deadlines:

- The deadline for application submissions (from the student's supervisor) is October 7, 2016, which is also the deadline for paper abstract submissions.
- Applicants and supervisors will be notified of awards by October 26, 2016, which is two days after the paper acceptance notification date.

Additional Notes:

- Supervisors should submit one file per student merging this application and other documents into one PDF file and naming it as follows: Surname_Initial_application.pdf, for example: Jane Doe application file -> Doe_j_application.pdf. All applications must be sent via email by the supervisor to the ARFTG Sponsorship Chair

(sponsorship@arftg.org). The supervisor should include the student's email in the CC: block of the submission email.

- It is the student's responsibility to arrange for the required presentation by submitting an abstract/summary paper to the ARFTG conference OR agreeing to present at a workshop (if approached by the workshop organizer). The workshop option should be completed before submitting an application. An abstract/summary submission should be done in parallel with the sponsorship application, and a sponsorship award is conditional on paper acceptance. If submitting an abstract, it must be submitted through the normal conference system, AND it should also be included in the sponsorship application file.
- Qualifying applications will be reviewed by the ARFTG Sponsorship Review Committee. The acceptance/rejection criteria will include but not be limited to the merits of the student's work and its applicability to ARFTG, the benefit to the student communicated by the student's personal statement, and the benefit to ARFTG from the student's participation. The Review Committee reserves the right to use additional criteria in making its decision, and all decisions of the Review Committee are final.
- Because there is a limited sponsorship budget, preference may be given to students who have not attended ARFTG before.
- ARFTG reserves the right to verify the details in this application against ARFTG records and other resources, if necessary.
- Students are responsible for their own travel insurance, and international students are responsible for receiving any necessary visas.
